

WEST HAVEN: READY FOR TOMORROW

Coastal areas of the City of West Haven suffered damage as a result of Tropical Storm Irene, and were dealt another punch a year later by Superstorm Sandy. In order to promote resiliency and reduce future damages, the City has secured grants for resiliency projects and property buyouts. CAFM has partnered with the City of West Haven and UCONN's Connecticut Institute for Resilience and Climate Adaption (CIRCA) to offer a walking tour of the proposed projects.
